

Trafficking Chains. Modern Slavery in Society by Sylvia Walby and Karen Shire

Book Launch and appraisal with the authors and discussants from various disciplines

17.04.2024, 16:30–18:00 Uhr

Campus Duisburg, LS 105

Despite economic development, modern slavery and trafficking persists in all parts of the world. The book launch offers a first insight into the main arguments, presented in Trafficking Chains. Modern Slavery in Society. The authors, Sylvia Walby and Karen Shire, argue for an integrated view on trafficking not only as an issue of crime, but nested in multiple regimes of inequality, pleading for a solid regulation of the economy, better welfare, and social protections.

The introduction to the main arguments of the book by the authors, is followed by a discussion of the book from different disciplinary perspectives by commentators Kristin Platt, Miriam Rehm and Brigitte Young.

Sylvia Walby

Anneliese Maier Research Awardee
Royal Holloway, University of London

© Prof. Sylvia Walby

Professor Sylvia Walby OBE FBA FAcSS holds the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation Anneliese Maier Research Award with the Essen College of Gender Research and the Institute of Sociology of the University of Duisburg-Essen as host institutions. She holds a Professorship at the School of Law and Social Sciences in Royal Holloway, University of London. The renowned scientist is a Fellow of the British Academy and Fellow of the UK Academy of Social Sciences and served as the Chair of the UK Research Excellence Framework REF2021 Sub-Panel for Sociology. She is Founding Co-President of the International Sociological Association's Thematic Group 11 on Violence and Society. Walby was awarded an OBE for services to equal opportunities and diversity in 2008.

Karen A. Shire

Vice-Rector for University Culture, Diversity and International Affairs at the University of Duisburg-Essen

© MPIfG-AD

Karen Shire holds the Chair in Comparative Sociology and Japanese Society at the University of Duisburg-Essen, where she is also Vice-Rector for University Culture, Diversity, and International Affairs. Recently she is Guest Professor at the Institute of Social Sciences, The University of Tokyo (2024), and Scholar-in-Residence at the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies (2022), and faculty member in the International Max Planck Research School on the Social and Political Constitution of the Economy since 2017. She is a past Director of the Essen College of Gender Research (2018–2022). Currently, Shire is co-speaker of the DFG funded Research Training Group on Cross-Border Labor Markets at the Universities of Bielefeld and Duisburg-Essen, PI in the DFG Research Training Group on East Asian Futures, President of RC02 Economy & Society, International Sociological Association, and Co-Coordinator of Network G, Labor Markets, Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics.

Further information:

<https://www.netzwerk-fgf.nrw.de/veranstaltungen>; <https://www.uni-due.de/ekfg/>; <http://inzentim.de/veranstaltungen>