TROPHOBLAST RESEARCH

Series Editors: Richard K. Miller and Henry A. Thiede
University of Rochester Medical Center

Trophoblast Research features original articles, reviews, and reports on the placenta and the extraembryonic membranes as they relate to the embryonic and fetal development and to trophoblastic neoplasia. This series is under the direction of a distinguished international editorial board. All articles are peer-reviewed.

Volume 4

TROPHOBLAST INVASION AND ENDOMETRIAL RECEPTIVITY
Novel Aspects Of The Cell Biology Of Embryo Implantation

Edited by: Hans-Werner Denker, University Clinics, Federal Republic of Germany
John D. Aplin, St. Mary's Hospital, Manchester, United Kingdom

CORRIGENDA

Hans-Werner Denker and John D. Aplin (Eds.):
Trophoblast Invasion and Endometrial Receptivity: Novel Aspects of the Cell Biology of Embryo Implantation.
New York and London: Plenum Medical Book Company, 1990 (= Trophoblast Research,

Please correct the following printing errors:

Page 10 (Tab. 1) line 7: Bükers et al., 1990
Page 10 (Tab. 1) line 9: Morris and Potter, 1984; 1990
Page 10 (Tab. 1) line 13: Hoffman et al., 1990
Page 10 (Tab. 1) line 14: Carson et al., 1990
Page 11 (Tab. 1) line 3: Classen-Linke and Denker, 1990
Page 11 (Tab. 1) line 6: Marx et al., 1990
Page 11 (Tab. 1) line 13: Hochfeld et al., 1990
Page 196 line 38: (Bulmer et al., 1990)
Page 199 line 10 f.: (Bulmer et al., 1990)
Page 298 (Tab. 6) headline of the table: DBA Reaction Pattern...