

Portfolio part A & B at a glance

This document presents an overview of the contents of the portfolio you will be working on in the seminars before and during the Praxissemester. Please note that these contents vary slightly depending on your respective course of studies. For further information on the assignments in each seminar, please talk to your instructors.

For the modules J/M/Ma and Praxissemester, you must hand in a portfolio as your Prüfungsleistung at the end of the semester when you finish your Praxissemester. The modules J/M/Ma comprise several seminars and your Schulpraktikum. The following list sums up when you should attend the respective classes:

- The weekly seminar “Teaching English in Theory and Practice” is a consecutive class and turns into the three-day Blockseminar “Begleitseminar: Teacher Development – Reflective Practice” at the end of your first semester. This also means that your instructor will not change.
- The seminar “Reflections on Classroom Discourse” is also a three-day Blockseminar which takes place on the same days as the “Begleitseminar: Teacher Development – Reflective Practice” during your Praxissemester. (for further information, please visit the website of the ZLB / Leitfaden Praxissemester)

Please check your individual study programmes (Studienpläne) to find out about the different components of your portfolios. You can find the documents here:

- Website of the Department of Anglophone Studies → “Learn more about our study programmes”
→ Lehramt Master → Studienplan

In conclusion, your portfolio comprises two parts:

In each of the seminars, you are required to complete at least one assignment which forms the basis of your portfolio:

- "Teaching English in Theory and Practice": In this class, you work on an outline for a potential study project. You must hand in this outline, whether you carry out your study project or not.
- "Reflections on Classroom Discourse": All students must hand in a two-page essay on a given topic.
- "Begleitseminar: Teacher Development – Reflective Practice": If you decide to carry out your study project in EFL, you must hand in a study project report at the end of this class. This report is accompanied by a research diary which you must keep to reflect upon the research process.

If you study Lebramt Grundschule (vertieft), Haupt-/Real-/Sekundar-/Gesamtschule, Gymnasium/Gesamtschule, or Berufskolleg, please hand in your portfolio at the end of the same semester you finish your Praxissemester. Otherwise, you study Lebramt Grundschule (nicht vertieft) and hand in your portfolio at the end of the third semester. When handing in your portfolio, make sure that the cover page contains all information relevant for your instructor.

Further information

The EFL Education website offers you a variety of helpful information and documents which will help you during your course of studies:

- To format your study project outline and study project report appropriately, please refer to the Style Sheet EFL Education.
- Please download the Cover Page for your portfolio and fill in all the necessary information.