

M.A.-Studienprogramm Modern East Asian Studies

Modulhandbuch

Fakultät für Gesellschaftswissenschaften
Institut für Ostasienwissenschaften

Aktualisiert: 2021-06-21

Studienverlauf

Semester

|   |                                                  |                                 |
|---|--------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 | ADVANCEDEAST ASIAN STUDIES           | LANGUAGEChin/Jap/Kor |
| 2 | MASTER THESIS(incl. attached seminar) |                                 |

During the first semester of the one-year (two-semester) MA program, MEAS students deepen their Chinese, Japanese and Korean language skills by focusing on advanced reading of essays and newspaper articles. Additionally, students choose three out of ten Advanced East Asian Studies (AEAS) modules, complemented by one elective module.

During the second and last semester of the MA MEAS, students concentrate on writing their Master's thesis. The thesis is an independent piece of research about a cutting-edge topic on contemporary East Asia. It is intended to provide evidence of the student's newly acquired knowledge, theoretical and methodological skills in East Asian regional studies, and language proficiency.

Inhalt

|                                                                    |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1. LANGUAGES .....                                          | 5  |
| 1.1. Chinese for Advanced Students .....                           | 5         |
| 1.2. Japanese for Advanced Students .....                          | 9         |
| 1.3. Korean for Advanced Students .....                            | 13        |
| 2. ADVANCED EAST ASIAN STUDIES .....                        | 17 |
| 2.1. Sozialwissenschaftliche AEAS Module Wintersemester .....      | 17        |
| 2.2. Wirtschaftswissenschaftliche AEAS Module Wintersemester ..... | 53        |
| 3. ELECTIVE MODULES .....                                   | 77 |
| 4. CONCLUDING MASTER MODULE .....                           | 87 |

1. LANGUAGES

1.1. Chinese for Advanced Students

| Modulname                                   | Modulcode                   |
|---------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Chinese for Advanced Students |                             |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                      | Fakultät                    |
| Dr. Lun Du                                  | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen                           |
|--------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| keine                                | Fortgeschrittene Kenntnisse der chinesischen Sprache |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname            | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Chinese for Advanced Students | SK           | 4   | 180                 |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                               |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

The module is divided in two courses: “Newspapers“ and “Essays“.

In the course “Newspapers“, students deepen their Chinese language skills by, on the one hand, learning expressions of the so-called “literary language“ (Schriftsprache) and of classical Chinese, and by learning specific grammar structures and sentences with long attribute structures. On the other hand, students gain knowledge about current developments and events in culture, society. Politics and economy of China through the texts assigned and discussed in class. At the end of the course, students will be able to read newspaper articles on current topics quickly and to precisely understand the content. Additionally, the course is designed to enhance students’ Chinese conversation skills.

The texts used in the course “Essays“ are written by scientists who are well-known and influential both inside China and outside China. The texts therefore are of a different genre/category and often more complex than the texts used in the “Newspaper“ course, so students learn to handle different types of texts competently. In this course, in addition to reading comprehension, students learn to capture the opinions, key statements and intentions of the individual author correctly as well as to follow the argumentation process while reading the texts. The instructor will explain the historical and cultural background for specific expressions, idioms and proverbs. On this basis students are enabled to formulate their own comments and contribute to the discussion. Students get to know typical expressions used in scientific essays and learn how to use them, for example when they write academic texts themselves.

Davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Enhanced reading comprehension
- Knowledge about current developments in China
- Development and application of vocabulary of discipline-specific and academic expressions
- Strengthened conversation and discussion skills.

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Advanced knowledge of the Chinese language

Written exam (120 minutes)

| Modulname                            | Modulcode                                   |                          |
|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Chinese for Advanced Students        |                                             |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                   | Veranstaltungscode                          |                          |
| Chinese for Advanced Students |                                             |                          |
| Lehrende/r                           | Lehreinheit                                 | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Dr. Lun Du                           | Institut fürOstasienwiss-enschaften | WP                       |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache    |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|------------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Chinesisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 4   | 60             | 120           | 180               |

| Lehrform                     |
|------------------------------|
| Sprachkurs                   |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen |
| See module description       |

Inhalte

The module is divided in two courses: "Newspapers" and "Essays".

In the course "Newspapers", students deepen their Chinese language skills by, on the one hand, learning expressions of the so-called „literary language“ (Schriftsprache) and of classical Chinese, and by learning specific grammar structures and sentences with long attribute structures. On the other hand, students gain knowledge about current developments and events in culture, society. Politics and economy of China through the texts assigned and discussed in class. At the end of the course, students will be able to read newspaper articles on current topics quickly and to precisely understand the content. Additionally, the course is designed to enhance students' Chinese conversation skills.

The texts used in the course "Essays" are written by scientists who are well-known and influential both inside China and outside China. The texts therefore are of a different genre/category and often more complex than the texts used in the "Newspaper" course, so students learn to handle different types of texts competently. In this course, in addition to reading comprehension, students learn to capture the opinions, key statements and intentions of the individual author correctly as well as to follow the argumentation process while reading the texts. The instructor will explain the historical and cultural background for specific expressions, idioms and proverbs. On this basis students are enabled to formulate their own comments and contribute to the discussion. Students get to know typical expressions used in scientific essays and learn how to use them, for example when they write academic texts themselves.

Prüfungsleistung

Written Exam (120 min)

Literatur

The course "Newspapers" always uses current articles from newspapers and websites.

The texts of the course "Essays" are from specialized books (e.g., anthologies) or professional journals.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

1.2. Japanese for Advanced Students

| Modulname                                    | Modulcode                   |
|----------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Japanese for Advanced Students |                             |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                       | Fakultät                    |
| Yuka Ando                                    | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Semester              | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen                          |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| keine                                | Fortgeschrittene Kenntnisse der japanischen Sprache |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname             | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | Japanese for Advanced Students | SK           | 4        | 180                 |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                |              | 4 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

The general goal of this module is to achieve the level of Japanese language competency equivalent to CEFR C2.

Regarding the contemporary issues in Japan or in other East Asian countries, students should be capable of

- (1) reading and summarizing academic materials
- (2) giving an academic presentation
- (3) discussing about the topics academically
- (4) writing academic essays in Japanese.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Foreign language competencies as technical proficiency
- Communication skills (speaking, listening, reading and writing skills)
- Technical information filtering (finding, exploring, developing and presenting information including text, images and numbers)

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Advanced knowledge of the Japanese language
Written exam

| Modulname                             | Modulcode                                   |                          |
|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Japanese for Advanced Students        |                                             |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                    | Veranstaltungscode                          |                          |
| Japanese for Advanced Students |                                             |                          |
| Lehrende/r                            | Lehreinheit                                 | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Yuka Ando, Yuko Sugita, Ryusuke Takai | Institut fürOstasienwiss-enschaften | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache   |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|-----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Japanisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 4   | 60             | 120           | 180               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Sprachkurs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| The general goal of this module is to achieve the level of Japanese language competency equivalent to CEFR C2. Students should be capable of <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(1) reading and summarizing academic materials,</li> <li>(2) giving an academic presentation,</li> <li>(3) discussing about the topics academically</li> <li>(4) writing academic essays</li> </ol> regarding the contemporary issues in Japan or in other East Asian countries. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Reading comprehension</li> <li>• Technical composition</li> <li>• Analysis of and discussion on the contemporary issues</li> <li>• Listening comprehension of political discussions</li> <li>• Academic presentation</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

Prüfungsleistung

Written exam

Literatur

Materials provided in the class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

1.3. Korean for Advanced Students

| Modulname                                  | Modulcode                   |
|--------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Korean for Advanced Students |                             |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                     | Fakultät                    |
| Dr. Stefan Knoob                           | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Semester              | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen                                                       |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| keine                                | Fortgeschrittene Kenntnisse der koreanischen Sprache (hoher TOPIK 4 bis TOPIK 5) |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname           | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Korean for Advanced Students | SK           | 4   | 180                 |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                              |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

This module is intended to further develop Korean language skills of TOPIK Level 4-5 (CEFR B2-C1), with an emphasis on reading and processing academic texts in the Social Sciences of contemporary Korea and East Asia.

At the end of the module most students will

- be able to read and summarize texts in Social Science subjects
- be able to research original language materials in Social Science subjects
- be able to hold a short presentation on a Social Science topic
- be able to write an academic essay on a Social Science topic

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Reading and processing academic texts in Korean
- Gathering Korean language information on an academic research topic
- Processing and presenting research in Korean oral and written form

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Prerequisite: Knowledge of the Korean language at TOPIK Level 4-5

Examination: Final written examination

| Modulname                           | Modulcode                                   |                          |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Korean for Advanced Students        |                                             |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                  | Veranstaltungscode                          |                          |
| Korean for Advanced Students |                                             |                          |
| Lehrende/r                          | Lehreinheit                                 | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Dr. Stefan Knoob                    | Institut fürOstasienwiss-enschaften | WP                       |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache    |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|------------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Koreanisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 4   | 60             | 120           | 180               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Sprachkurs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| See respective section in the module description above                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Development of reading skills</li> <li>• Development of research skills in Korean</li> <li>• Development of academic writing skills</li> <li>• Preparing and holding a presentation in Korean</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

Final written examination

Literatur

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

2. ADVANCED EAST ASIAN STUDIES

2.1. Sozialwissenschaftliche AEAS Module Wintersemester

| Modulname                                  | Modulcode                   |
|--------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Work and Employment in Japan | AEAS 1102                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                     | Fakultät                    |
| Helmut Demes, Dipl.-Vw.                    | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                    | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Labor Markets and Employment Institutions in Japan    | P            | 2   | 60                  |
| II                                     | Seminar on Labor Market, Work and Employment in Japan | P            | 2   | 120                 |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                       |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

After having finished this module students are able to analyze the developments of the employment system and the labor market in Japan. They understand and can apply the main theories. They can independently access and interpret the main information sources in this field. They have demonstrated these skills in a seminar paper and presentation.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Understanding complex developments in the Japanese employment system
- Being able to critically analyze markets, topics, institutions and developments in Japanese employment system on academic level.
- Using and evaluating public and media sources for academic analysis of contemporary Japanese employment system

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation followed by written seminar paper.
Details to be announced in class.

| Modulname                                                 | Modulcode          |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Work and Employment in Japan                              | AEAS 1102          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                        | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Labor Markets and Employment Institutions in Japan |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Helmut Demes, Dipl.-Vw.                                   | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 30            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Übung                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| After having finished this class students will know the main institutions in the field labor studies in Japan. They will be able to collect and assess information and data. They will have deepened refined their understanding of search strategies in particular in the internet. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| After a short introduction to the field by lectures and joined reading, students are introduced in this exercise to empirical information sources on work, employment and labor markets in Japan.                                                                                    |

Prüfungsleistung

Oral presentation followed by written seminar paper.
Details to be announced in class.

Literatur

Literature and internet resources will be made available in shared electronics work spaces in advance.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                    | Modulcode          |                       |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Work and Employment in Japan                                 | AEAS 1102          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                           | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Seminar on Labor Market, Work and Employment in Japan |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                   | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Helmut Demes, Dipl.-Vw.                                      | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| In this seminar students develop and combine their theoretical and methodological knowledge and their ability to find and analyze empirical information in a seminar presentation and a seminar paper on a specific topic.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Fields covered <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Forms of employment and their characteristics,</li> <li>• employment deregulation and changes,</li> <li>• economic and institutional labor market theories,</li> <li>• school to work transition,</li> <li>• skill formation system (HRD);</li> <li>• Search and access to empirical research materials (incl. relevant institutions such as research institutes, government agencies, employer associations, labor unions).</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

Oral presentation followed by written seminar paper.
Details to be announced in class.

Literatur

Literature and internet resources will be made available in shared electronics work spaces in advance.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                           | Modulcode                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Japanese Society and Social Structure | AEAS 1103                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                              | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Karen Shire, PhD                              | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                                 | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Social Structure, Identity and Social Action in Contemporary Japan | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| II                                     | Social Content Analysis using Official and Media Sources           | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                                    |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students will develop advanced knowledge of national identity formulation, social inequalities, family and gender relations and the effects of educational and community-based institutions in contemporary Japanese society. Through the completion of a content analysis of government and/or media sources, focused on an issue of contemporary social change, students will become acquainted with and learn to critically evaluate and interpret official and public sources useful for analyzing contemporary changes in Japanese society and social structure.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Understanding complex developments in Japanese society
- Being able to critically analyze topics, institutions and developments in Japanese society on academic level.
- Using and evaluating public and media sources for academic analysis of contemporary Japanese society

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation followed by written seminar paper.
Details to be announced in class.

| Modulname                                                                 | Modulcode          |                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Japanese Society and Social Structure                                     | AEAS 1103          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                                        | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Social Structure, Identity and Social Action in Contemporary Japan |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                                | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Karen Shire, PhD                                                    | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 60            | 90                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Students will develop advanced knowledge of national identity formulation, social inequalities, family and gender relations and the effects of educational and community-based institutions in contemporary Japanese society.                                                                                                                |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Conservative Modernization,National Identity Formation and Social Structure with a focus on the post-WW II period;Social Inequality and Social Stratification in Japan,Introduction to Major Literature, Debates and Sources for Studying the Japanese Social Structure,Ethnicity and Migration,Educational Institutions |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                       | Modulcode          |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Japanese Society and Social Structure                           | AEAS 1103          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                              | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Social Content Analysis using Official and Media Sources |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                      | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Karen Shire                                               | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 60            | 90                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Through the completion of a content analysis of government and/or media sources, focused on an issue of contemporary social change, students will become acquainted with and learn to critically evaluate and interpret official and public sources useful for analyzing contemporary changes in Japanese society and social structure. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Introduction to Major Official Sources,Practice of Evaluating and Analyzing various sources and the Japanese media,Content Analysis practice.                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                      | Modulcode                   |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Recent Developments in the Chinese Society       | AEAS 1110                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                                         | Fakultät                    |
| N.N. (Successor Prof. Flemming Christiansen and Prof. Tao Liu) | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                          | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | Recent Developments in the Chinese Society  | P            | 2        | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Issues of Contemporary China | P            | 1        | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                             |              | 3 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students demonstrate an advanced understanding of the society of China and have developed the ability to analyze recent developments of the society by applying advanced sociological theories and methods.

Students with Chinese language skills developed the ability to find and use Chinese language documents and resources. Students without Chinese skills are enabled to identify relevant academic documents and resources in English.

The specific focus of the module depends on the specialization and expertise of the instructor.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Analysis of recent developments in Chinese society
- Transfer and application of sociological theories and methods to the Chinese context
- Identification and scientific utilization of relevant academic literature and related sources

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Obligatory readings, class participation and written seminar paper
Details to be announced in class

| Modulname                                         | Modulcode          |                       |
|---------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Recent Developments in the Chinese Society        | AEAS 1110          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Recent Developments in the Chinese Society |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                        | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                              | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| In this seminar, sociological approaches provide both a thematic guide and a theoretical angle with which to examine key developments in contemporary Chinese society as well as the social practices and institutions therein. Students will gain and demonstrate their deep understanding of various issues in current Chinese society and develop their analytical skills. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| The course's potential topics include (but are not limited to) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the coalescence of the urban middle-class,</li> <li>• the education system and its reforms,</li> <li>• food security,</li> <li>• user technology (such as WeChat),</li> <li>• tourism,</li> <li>• ethnicity,</li> <li>• and gender.</li> </ul>                        |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

The main course material consists of recent readings in English by renowned Chinese and non-Chinese social scientists.

Readings are assigned for each session and will be announced in/before class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                          | Modulcode          |                       |
|----------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Recent Developments in the Chinese Society         | AEAS 1110          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                 | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Issues of Contemporary China |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                         | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                               | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Projekt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| This course aims to stimulate students' structural thinking and confidence in delivering own ideas about topics covered in class or identified by students themselves as relevant sociological phenomena in contemporary China. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• examination of recent events in China from a sociological perspective.</li> <li>• Potential topics include: family life, educational system, interpersonal relations, etc.</li> </ul>         |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                                       | Modulcode                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Chinese International Relations and China's Role in World Affairs | AEAS 1111                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                                                          | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Dr. Dr. Nele Noesselt                                                     | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                       | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Chinese Foreign Policy and China's Role in World Affairs | P            | 2   | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Core Issues of Chinese Foreign Policy     | P            | 2   | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                          |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

This module introduces students to core concepts and basic patterns of Chinese foreign relations as well as China's role in world affairs. Topics covered include the history of Chinese foreign relations and international relations in East Asia, core frameworks of analysis of International Relations (IR) theory and Foreign Policy Analysis (FPA), complemented by social science methods and their application to the analysis of the domestic, regional, and global determinants of Chinese foreign relations. Upon completion of this module, students will have acquired an advanced understanding of core methodologies, research techniques, and important theoretical frameworks. They are expected to have an in-depth knowledge of the historical and philosophical underpinnings of Chinese foreign strategy and the interplay between domestic and global system settings on China's positioning in world affairs. They will be able to engage in a theory-based analysis of recent developments in Chinese foreign politics at the regional and global level, China's (changing) role in international organizations, as well as China's positioning in global governance issues (e.g., global climate change, global green growth and sustainable development, global security, global finance).

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Advanced knowledge of the history and philosophical foundations of Chinese foreign relations
- Mastery of key theories of International Relations (IR) and basic frameworks of Foreign Policy Analysis (FPA)
- Advanced analytical skills (with a focus on the dynamic interplay between the domestic and global determinants of China's role in regional and global politics)

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Requirements: Active participation and preparation of the required readings; presentation (+ handout); final seminar paper.

for the project seminar: active participation in interdisciplinary group projects and policy analysis simulation workshops; final project report

| Modulname                                                       | Modulcode          |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Chinese International Relationships                             | AEAS 1111          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                              | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Chinese Foreign Policy and China's Role in World Affairs |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                      | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Dr. Nele Noesselt                                     | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| This seminar starts with an overview of key historical patterns and basic philosophical underpinnings of Chinese foreign relations. Based on theories of International Relations, the seminar assesses China's positioning at the regional level and on the global stage, and also introduces students to Chinese imaginations of world order. Students will achieve an advanced understanding of the history and recent transformations of China's bilateral relations with its neighboring countries in Asia, its power competition with "great" powers (especially the US and Russia), as well as of China's refined foreign and security strategy with regard to Africa and Latin America. The seminar also examines China's changing role in international organizations, regional frameworks of cooperation, and multilateral networks. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Basic knowledge of the history and philosophical foundations of Chinese foreign relations</li> <li>• Mastery of key theories of International Relations (IR) and basic frameworks of Foreign Policy Analysis</li> <li>• Advanced analytical skills (with a focus on domestic and global determinants of China's role in regional and global politics)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

Prüfungsleistung

Requirements: Active participation and preparation of the required readings; presentation (+ handout); final seminar paper

Literatur

Background literature:

Ikenberry, G. John/Mastanduno, Michael (eds.) (2003), International Relations Theory and the Asia-Pacific. New York: Columbia UP.

Kang, David. C. (2012). East Asia before the West. Five Centuries of Trade and Tribute. New York: Columbia UP.

Pekkanen, Sadia/Ravenhill, John/Foot, Rosemary (eds.) (2014). Oxford Handbook of the International Relations of Asia. New York: Oxford UP.

Shambaugh, David/Yahuda, Michael (eds.) (2014)<sup>2</sup>. International Relations of Asia. Lanham: Rowman & Littlefield.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                   | Modulcode          |                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Chinese International Relationships                         | AEAS 1111          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                          | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Core Issues of Chinese Foreign Policy |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                  | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Dr. Nele Noesselt                                 | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 30            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| The project seminar complements the first part of the module by additional case studies and policy analysis simulation elements that illustrate the causal interrelation and co-determination of the domestic and international dimensions of Chinese foreign politics. To further develop students' analytical skills, interdisciplinary student teams will be offered advanced training in theories and research methods enabling them to design and run small research projects. Students will acquire an advanced theory-based understanding of recent developments of East Asian politics and East Asian players' role in world affairs. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Training in social science methods; theory-guided analysis of recent developments in East Asian politics and Chinese foreign and security strategy</li> <li>• Policy analysis simulation workshops</li> <li>• Development of research projects (operationalization of complex research designs; compilation and coding of new data sets; visualization of project findings)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Prüfungsleistung                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Active participation in interdisciplinary foreign policy analysis simulation workshops; active contribution to interdisciplinary (team) research projects; final project report                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Literatur                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Background literature: Chan, Gerald/Lee, Pak K./ Chan, Lai-Ha (2012), China Engages Global Governance: A New World Order in the Making? New York: Routledge. Huang, Chiung-Chiu/Shih, Chih-yu (2016), Harmonious Intervention: China's Quest for Relational Security. London; New York: Routledge. Kang, David C. (2012), East Asia before the West. Five Centuries of Trade and Tribute. New York: Columbia UP. Zhang, Yongjin/Chang, Teng-chi (eds.) (2016), Constructing a Chinese School of International Relations: Ongoing Debates and Sociological Realities. London; New York: Routledge. |
| Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

| Modulname                                       | Modulcode                   |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Institutions in Japanese Politics | AEAS 1116                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                          | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Dr. Axel Klein                            | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                     | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | Institutions in Japanese Politics                      | P            | 2        | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Institutions in Comparative Perspective | P            | 1        | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                        |              | 3 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students acquire broad knowledge of key institutions (formal and informal) of the political system (including but not limited to the constitution, electoral systems, political parties, factions etc.). They also understand major theoretical schools of neo-institutionalist approaches to political phenomena and apply this knowledge to selected cases. Students learn key components of research designs and use these in developing their written assignment.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Improve knowledge of key institutions (formal and informal) of the political system;
- Understanding of neo-institutionalist approaches to political phenomena;
- Learn how to develop research designs;

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Students are required to submit a written assignment (6.500 words +/- 10%) on a research question to be presented and discussed in class. Weekly readings have to be prepared, active participation in class is expected.

| Modulname                                | Modulcode          |                          |
|------------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| Institutions in Japanese Politics        | AEAS 1116          |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                       | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| Institutions in Japanese Politics |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                               | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Axel Klein                     | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Students acquire broad knowledge of key institutions (formal and informal) of the political system (including but not limited to the constitution, electoral systems, political parties, factions etc.). They also understand major theoretical schools of neo-institutionalist approaches to political phenomena. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Institutions of the political system of Japan</li> <li>• Theoretical approaches to political phenomena (neo-institutionalism)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                  |

Prüfungsleistung

Written assignment

Literatur

Tba in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                     | Modulcode          |                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Institutions in Japanese Politics                             | AEAS 1116          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                            | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Institutions in Comparative Perspective |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                    | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Axel Klein                                          | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Projekt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Students apply the theoretical knowledge to selected cases. They also learn key components of research designs and use these in developing their written assignment. Twice during the term will they present the general topic of their assignment, their research question, the respective research design and structure of their assignment. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Application of acquired theoretical understanding to selected cases;</li> <li>• Presentation of research plans</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                    |

Prüfungsleistung

See above

Literatur

Tba in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                        | Modulcode                   |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Recent Developments of Korean Society and Politics | AEAS 1119                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                                           | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Hannes Mosler, PhD                                         | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                                  | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | Recent Developments of Korean Society and Politics                  | P            | 2        | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Issues of Contemporary Society and Politics in Korea | P            | 1        | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                                     |              | 3 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students will acquire a broad knowledge of key institutions in politics and society, and their dynamic change and effects. Participants also understand major theoretical approaches and concepts to political and social phenomena and apply this knowledge to selected cases. After completing this module, students based on theoretical approaches and concepts shall be able to understand and evaluate political and social developments. Students learn key components of research designs and use these in developing their written assignment.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Improve knowledge of key developments in politics and society;
- Acquiring competence in applying theories to political and phenomena;
- Learn how to develop research designs;

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Students are required to submit a written assignment (6.500 words +/- 10%) on a research question to be presented and discussed in class. Weekly readings have to be prepared, active participation in class is expected.

| Modulname                                                 | Modulcode          |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Recent Developments of Korean Society and Politics        | AEAS 1119          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                        | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Recent Developments of Korean Society and Politics |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Hannes Mosler, PhD                                  | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Students will acquire a broad knowledge of key institutions in politics and society, and their dynamic change and effects. Participants also understand major theoretical approaches and concepts to political and social phenomena and apply this knowledge to selected cases. After completing this module, students based on theoretical approaches and concepts shall be able to understand and evaluate political and social developments. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The structure and dynamics of Korean politics and civil society today</li> <li>• Theoretical approaches to sociopolitical phenomena</li> <li>• </li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Prüfungsleistung

Written assignment

Literatur

Tba in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                                  | Modulcode          |                       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Recent Developments of Korean Society and Politics                         | AEAS 1119          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                                         | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Issues of Contemporary Society and Politics in Korea |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                                 | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Hannes Mosler, PhD                                                   | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Projekt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Students apply the theoretical knowledge to selected cases. They also learn key components of research designs and use these in developing their written assignment. During the term they will they present the general topic of their assignment, their research question, the respective research design and structure of their assignment. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Application of acquired theoretical understanding to selected cases;</li> <li>• Presentation of research plans;</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                           |

Prüfungsleistung

See above

Literatur

Tba in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

2.2. Wirtschaftswissenschaftliche AEAS Module Wintersemester

| Modulname                                   | Modulcode                   |
|---------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Business and Economy in China | AEAS 2106                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                      | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Dr. Markus Taube                      | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                | keine                      |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                             | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | Business and Economy in China                  | P            | 1        | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study on Business and Economy in China | P            | 1        | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                |              | 2 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students will have learned to approach and solve complex management issues in the Chinese market by applying standard analytical tools and management techniques. They have learned to transfer and adapt Western management techniques to Chinese idiosyncrasies and specific market phenomena. They have developed awareness for issues like intellectual property rights protection, state-business collusion, price dumping, etc.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Transfer of economic science approaches to China
- Deepening of analytical skills and understanding regarding the Chinese markets
- Identifying, research and solving of management issues
- Team work for project study

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation, term paper
Details to be announced in class.

| Modulname                            | Modulcode          |                          |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| Business and Economy in China        | AEAS 2106          |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                   | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| Business and Economy in China |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                           | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Markus Taube               | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 105           | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Students are knowledgeable about the specific business environment in China. They understand the specific regulatory framework, know about the specific cultural embeddedness of firm organization and management practices and are able to analyze specific strategic constellations in the Chinese market. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Specific contents will be announced in class.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Prüfungsleistung

Presentation, term paper

Literatur

To be announced in class

Background reading:

Naughton, Barry (2018) The Chinese Economy. Adaptation and Growth, 2nd edition: Cambridge, Massachusetts: MIT Press.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                             | Modulcode          |                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Business and Economy in China                         | AEAS 2106          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                    | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study on Business and Economy in China |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                            | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| Prof. Dr. Markus Taube                                | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Project (Projekt)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Students learn to solve a complex business or economic problem in a larger team. Students identify the underlying problem of an observed phenomenon, determine an adequate theoretical framework as well as a suitable methodological approach to solve the problem, identify and collect data required to solve their tasks and conduct a rigorous analysis. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Contemporary „real-life“ phenomena</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                               | Modulcode                   |
|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Japan's Political Economy | AEAS 2108                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                  | Fakultät                    |
| N.N. (Successor Prof. Werner Pascha)    | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                         | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Japan's Economy between Market, State and Society          | P            | 1   | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Topical Issues of Japan's Political Economy | P            | 1   | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                            |              | 2   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Upon completion, students will understand the role of the Japanese state for major segments of the Japanese economy and of Japanese business. They are able to analyze a specific area of economic policy before the background of relevant economic theories; and they are able to develop and present their insights based on the needs of various formats.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Understanding of the relation of Japanese state and economy
- Transfer and application of economic theories to areas of Japanese economy

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation and written documentation.
Details and format to be announced in class.

| Modulname                                                | Modulcode          |                       |
|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Japan's Political Economy                                | AEAS 2108          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                       | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Japan's Economy between Market, State and Society |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                               | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                                     | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 105           | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| See module description                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Students will learn about different theoretical approaches to study economic policy.</li> <li>Major policy fields like monetary and fiscal policy, industrial policy, social policy, etc.</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

Students will integrate their findings in a scholarly presentation and essay as well as through a journalistic format, usually an article.

Literatur

To be announced in class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                         | Modulcode          |                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Japan's Political Economy                                         | AEAS 2108          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                                | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Topical Issues of Japan's Political Economy |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                        | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                                              | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Projekt                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Students are able to develop and present their insights on topics on Japanese economy based on the needs of various formats.                                                                                                          |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Students will apply different theoretical approaches to study economic policy.</li> <li>Major policy fields like monetary and fiscal policy, industrial policy, social policy, etc.</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

Students will integrate their findings in a scholarly presentation and essay as well as through a journalistic format, usually an article.

Literatur

To be announced in class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                              | Modulcode                   |
|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| The Economy of East Asia | AEAS 2114                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                 | Fakultät                    |
| Prof. Dr. Markus Taube                 | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                       | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
| I                                      | The Economy of East Asia                                 | P            | 2        | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Economic Issues of Contemporary East Asia | P            | 1        | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                          |              | 3 | 180          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

This course focuses on economic issues related to modern East Asia and its relationship to the rest of the world. The country focus of the module will be on China, Japan or Korea or any combination of those countries.

The aim is to highlight and analyze contemporary issues that attract the wide attention of scholars, policymakers, and professionals around the world. Class participants will do so by examining both micro-level and macro-level questions, both theoretically and empirically. The module will introduce and apply different methods used in economic science to analyze the subject.

The specific focus of the module depends on the specialization and expertise of the instructor.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Knowledge of East Asia's role in the world economy
- Ability to link issues in the domestic economy of East Asian countries to their external relationships with other major economies.
- Understand the recent development of East Asia's footprint in the international economic governance system.

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation followed by written seminar paper.

Details to be announced in class

| Modulname                       | Modulcode          |                          |
|---------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| The Economy of East Asia        | AEAS 2114          |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname              | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| The Economy of East Asia |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                      | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                            | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| See module description.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Focus on either East Asia or on China, Japan, or Korea and its role in the East Asian economic context.</li> <li>• Institutions and markets in East Asia or one of the key countries</li> <li>• East Asia's Trade and Foreign Investment (as a whole or exemplified by one country case)</li> <li>• Economic strategies</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                       | Modulcode          |                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| The Economy of East Asia                                        | AEAS 2114          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                              | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Economic Issues of Contemporary East Asia |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                      | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                                            | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache |
|------------------------------|----------------------|---------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | English |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Project                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| See module description. In this part of the module, students work individually or in groups on topics relevant in the framework of the module and develop their analytical skills as well as their ability to identify and research appropriate research questions and research projects in preparation of the term paper. |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• See module description</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                           | Modulcode                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Economic and Business Issues of Korea | AEAS 2117                   |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                              | Fakultät                    |
| N.N.                                                | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                                           | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Economy and Business in Korea                                | P            | 2   | 120                 |
| II                                     | Project Study: Topical Economic and Business Issues of Korea | P            | 1   | 60                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                                              |              | 3   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

After having successfully finished this module, students will understand clearly the role of the Korean state and its institutions for the Korean economy. The module aims at equipping students with the necessary knowledge and scientific tools to investigate and discuss issues of Korean economy and business on an advanced level.

They will be able to analyze a specific area of economic policy in the 2 Koreas before the background of relevant economic theories; and they have the skills to develop and present their own insights based on literature, resources and class discussions.

The specific focus of the module depends on the specialization and expertise of the instructor.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Analytical understanding of current issues in Korean business and economy and of the state as actor in Korean economic policy
- Ability to understand the origins and functions of Korean economic institutions and the differences between the 2 Koreas.
- Application of economic theories and models to the Korean case(s)

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Oral presentation and term paper.
Details will be announced in class.

| Modulname                             | Modulcode          |                          |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| Economic and Business Issues of Korea | AEAS 2117          |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                    | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| Economy and Business in Korea  |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                            | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                  | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 90            | 120               |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| See module description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Current issues in Korean economy and business</li> <li>• Application of theoretical approaches and research methods to study economic policy in the Korean context.</li> <li>• Topics include monetary and fiscal policy, industrial policy, social policy, etc.</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class.

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                                           | Modulcode          |                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------|
| Economic and Business Issues of Korea                               | AEAS 2117          |                       |
| Veranstaltungsname                                                  | Veranstaltungscode |                       |
| Project Study: Topical Economic and Business Issues of Korea |                    |                       |
| Lehrende/r                                                          | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp (P/WP/W) |
| N.N.                                                                | IN-EAST            | P                     |

| Vorgesehenes Studiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                  | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 1   | 15             | 45            | 60                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Projekt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Students work on research topics related to Korean economics and business individually or in groups and develop their research and communication skills.                                                                                                                                                             |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Current issues in Korean economy and business</li> <li>• Application of theoretical approaches and research methods to study economic policy in the Korean context.</li> <li>• Topics include monetary and fiscal policy, industrial policy, social policy, etc.</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

See module description

Literatur

To be announced in class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

3. ELECTIVE MODULES

| Modulname                                                          | Modulcode                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Elective modules                                     | E 1-13                      |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                                             | Fakultät                    |
| N.N. (Professors, research staff and guest researchers of IN-EAST) | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits         |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|-----------------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | WP                | 2 x 6 CP: 12 CP |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen (Module):

| Nr.  | Veranstaltungsname                       | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|------|------------------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I    | Contemporary Issues of China (E 1)       | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| II   | Contemporary Issues of Taiwan (E 2)      | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| III  | Contemporary Issues of Japan (E 3)       | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| IV   | Contemporary Issues of Korea (E 4)       | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| V    | Contemporary Issues of East Asia 1 (E 5) | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| VI   | Contemporary Issues of East Asia 2 (E 6) | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| VII  | Contemporary Issues of East Asia 3 (E 7) | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| VIII | Contemporary Issues of East Asia 4 (E 8) | WP           | 3   | 180                 |
| VIII | Methods in East Asian Studies 1 (E 9)    | WP           | 3   | 180                 |

|                                                            |                                        |    |          |            |
|------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|----|----------|------------|
| X                                                          | Methods in East Asian Studies 2 (E 10) | WP | 3        | 180        |
| XI                                                         | Issues of East Asia 1 (E 11)           | WP | 3        | 180        |
| XII                                                        | Issues of East Asia 2 (E 12)           | WP | 3        | 180        |
| XIII                                                       | Issues of East Asia 3 (E 13)           | WP | 3        | 180        |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht, insgesamt 2 Module) |                                        |    | 6 | 360 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Elective modules are offered depending on teaching capacities of IN-EAST instructors or guest instructors and correspond to the field of interest and expertise of the instructor in charge. They are specialized seminars, usually focusing on the East Asian region or one East Asian country utilizing a certain disciplinary perspective from the social and economic sciences.

Students will

- broaden their understanding of East Asia or one of the East Asian countries
- deepen their theoretical and methodological skills in a discipline while applying them to the East Asian context
- understand and analyze the current academic discourse on the specific topic of the module.
- work independently and/or in groups on research-driven projects, cases and issues to discuss and present their results

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- broaden their understanding of East Asia.
- deepen their theoretical and methodological skills in a discipline.

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Obligatory and recommended readings to be announced in class.

The exact requirements and the examination format are communicated by the instructor in charge at the beginning of the module. Typically, students are required to do an oral presentation and a term paper.

| Modulname              | Modulcode                   |
|------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Research Track  | E 14                        |
| Modulverantwortliche/r | Fakultät                    |
| Director of IN-EAST    | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 2 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung    | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Zulassung siehe §9a der Prüfungsordnung |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname           | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Core Theory Seminar          | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| II                                     | Research Method on East Asia | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                              |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students know important theories and methods in the field economic and social science studies of East Asia. They understand the research process by paradigmatically being introduced to a set of models, theories and methods. They are prepared to develop and design their own research projects.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Understanding of research concepts and strategies
- Understanding of theories and methods in the economic and social sciences

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Individual research plan/concept

| Modulname                          | Modulcode          |                          |
|------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| Research Track                     | E 14               |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                 | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| Core Theory Seminar         |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                         | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Professors and Postdocs at IN-EAST | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 1. Semester                     | Jedes Wintersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 60            | 90                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                                                  |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                                                             |
| Selected theories applied to the analysis of societies, politics and economies of East Asia, their trans- und international interactions |
| Inhalte                                                                                                                                  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Depending on individual research topics of participants</li> </ul>                                |

Prüfungsleistung

Individual research plan/concept

Literatur

Tba in the beginning of the class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                            | Modulcode          |                          |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------------|
| Research Track                       | E 14               |                          |
| Veranstaltungsname                   | Veranstaltungscode |                          |
| Research Methods in East Asia |                    |                          |
| Lehrende/r                           | Lehreinheit        | Belegungstyp(P/WP/W) |
| Professors and Postdocs at IN-EAST   | IN-EAST            | P                        |

| VorgesehenesStudiensemester | Angebotshäufigkeit   | Sprache  |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|----------|
| 2. Semester                     | Jedes Sommersemester | Englisch |

| SWS | Präsenzstudium | Selbststudium | Workload in Summe |
|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2   | 30             | 60            | 90                |

| Lehrform                                                                                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Seminar                                                                                                   |
| Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen                                                                              |
| Understanding and application of research methods to East Asia                                            |
| Inhalte                                                                                                   |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Depending on individual research topics of participants</li> </ul> |

Prüfungsleistung

Individual research plan/concept

Literatur

Tba in the beginning of the class

Weitere Informationen zur Veranstaltung

| Modulname                                            | Modulcode                   |
|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Research Forum                                | E 15                        |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                               | Fakultät                    |
| ProfessorInnen des IN-EAST im semesterweisen Wechsel | Gesellschaftswissenschaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 2 Semester       | WP                | 6       |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| keine                                |                            |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname               | Belegungstyp | SWS | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------|--------------|-----|---------------------|
| I                                      | Research Forum (Winter Semester) | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| II                                     | Research Forum (Summer Semester) | P            | 2   | 90                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                  |              | 4   | 180                 |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

Students join the IN-EAST lecture series and participate in up-to-date discussions of a variety of topics, each presented by an expert on the respective issue. Students hone their analytical and critical thinking and communicate with the scientific community.

By actively joining discussion of recent and ongoing research projects in different fields, students develop their interdisciplinary understanding of the East Asian region while experiencing first-hand contact with researchers from all over the world. Starting and developing their academic network through the lecture series should act as catalyst for students' research plans and contacts.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Critically discussing research projects from a variety of field
- Enhancement of interdisciplinary skills and understanding.
- Expanding academic network

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Active participation, response papers and/or essays.

Students have to fulfill all requirements in 2 consecutive semesters to receive 6 CP.

Details to be announced each term by the respective organizer of the Research Forum

4. CONCLUDING MASTER MODULE

| Modulname                                                               | Modulcode                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Concluding Master Module: MA thesis(incl. attached seminar) |                                  |
| Modulverantwortliche/r                                                  | Fakultät                         |
| Individual MA-supervisor                                                | Gesellschaftswissen-schaften |

| Zuordnung zum Studiengang      | Modulniveau: BA/MA |
|--------------------------------|--------------------|
| M.A. Modern East Asian Studies | MA                 |

| Vorgesehenes Studienjahr | Dauer des Moduls | Modultyp (P/WP/W) | Credits |
|--------------------------|------------------|-------------------|---------|
| 1. Studienjahr           | 1 Semester       | P                 | 30      |

| Voraussetzungen laut Prüfungsordnung | Empfohlene Voraussetzungen |
|--------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 15 CP bei Anmeldung MA-Arbeit        | Zustimmung MA supervisor   |

Zugehörige Lehrveranstaltungen:

| Nr.                                    | Veranstaltungsname                      | Belegungstyp | SWS      | Workload in Stunden |
|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|
|                                        | MA thesis                               | P            |          | 810                 |
| I                                      | Seminar on Japan's Society              | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| II                                     | Seminar on Politics in China            | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| III                                    | Seminar on Japan's and Korea's Economy  | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| IV                                     | Seminar on China's Economy              | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| V                                      | Seminar on China's Society              | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| VI                                     | Seminar on Korea's Society and Politics | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| VII                                    | Seminar on Japanese Politics            | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| VIII                                   | Seminar on the Asian Economy            | WP           | 2        | 90                  |
| Summe (Pflicht und Wahlpflicht) |                                         |              | 2 | 900          |

Lernergebnisse / Kompetenzen

The Master thesis is accompanied by a seminar held in the field of studies the thesis is related to or by individual supervision and training. The seminars/supervision measures are integrated into recent research objects at the institute. To deepen the understanding of theories and methods applied in their fields of study,

- To make students acquainted with the most recent research results,
- To introduce students to the ongoing interdisciplinary dialogue at the Institute of East Asian Studies, and
- To give students guidance and permanent feedback regarding their thesis research and support.

Each student has to select their supervisor and join the respective seminar/supervision offered.

Within the allotted writing time of 26 weeks, students write and submit an independent piece of research about a cutting-edge topic on contemporary East Asia.

davon Schlüsselkompetenzen

- Writing an independent piece of research
- Utilizing and synthesizing up-to-date academic research and methodologies to analyze a cutting-edge topic on East Asia

Teilnahmevoraussetzungen und Prüfungsleistungen im Modul

Supervision of MA thesis projects starts when students find their individual MA supervisor and joins in the respective chair's Seminar attached to the MA thesis (listed above) and individual supervisions.

To officially register the thesis, students need 15 CP counting towards their degree and their supervisor's approval.