

Interdisziplinäre Vortragsreihe Bildungsforschung

Tuesday, 16.05.2023, 18:15 Uhr

S06 S00 A40

Dr. Üyesi Neslihan Köse Ph. D.,
Bartin University, Türkei

A Comparative Case Study on English Language Curriculum in Iran, Japan, Germany, Spain, Sweden and Turkey

Dr. Neslihan Kose holds the position of an assistant professor of Curriculum Design & Instruction at the Lifelong Learning Department of the Faculty of Education at Bartın University in Turkey since 2022 March. She delivers "Principles and Methods of Instruction" and "Project Management" classes to pre-service teachers at the faculty. She has actively participated in various Erasmus+ programs, including Key Action 2 projects, which were referred to as Strategic Partnerships in the previous 7-year grant period. In particular, she has acted as the main point of contact and coordinator for two KA2 and one KA1 projects, all of which were completed successfully. Dr. Kose has academic qualifications in Translation & Interpreting and ELT from Hacettepe University, and has obtained a Master's and PhD degree in Curriculum Design & Instruction. Additionally, she possesses professional experience as an International Media Planning Expert, where she developed international media planning, branding, and marketing strategies for various exhibitions, both domestically and abroad.