

We are one of the youngest universities in Germany and think in terms of unlimited possibilities instead of possible limitations. Located in the heart of the Ruhr Metropolis, our 11 faculties develop ideas with a future. We are strong on research and teaching, we embrace diversity, promote academic potential, and we engage in genuine educational equality.

The Mercator School of Management and the Institute of East Asian Studies at the University of Duisburg-Essen invite applications for a full-time tenured position at the rank of

Full Professor (Salary Group W2) in "Business and Economic Studies on East Asia"

The Mercator School of Management and the Institute of East Asian Studies seek candidates with a strong foundation in management science or economics with demonstrated language and regional competence in Chinese Studies and a highly productive and international research career. They favour candidates who can contribute to the international research and graduate programs on institutional economics and institutional change in East Asia. The professorship contributes teaching in English and German to the degree programs of the Institute of East Asian Studies and the Mercator School of Management at the levels of BA, MA and doctoral studies. Candidates are expected to develop – supported by the university – a working knowledge of the German language within two years following the initial appointment.

The concept of East Asian Studies at the University of Duisburg-Essen grounds regional studies research and teaching in the theories and methods of the social and economic sciences. The appointment is to the Mercator School of Management with membership in the Institute of East Asian Studies. The Institute of East Asian Studies and the Mercator School of Management offer an attractive and international research and teaching environment with a large network of cooperation partners in East Asia and Europe.

Publications in high-ranking, peer-reviewed publication organs are expected as well as experience adequate to the offered position in the implementation of self-acquired, competitive third-party funded projects, preferably DFG-funded projects.

The University of Duisburg-Essen highlights the quality of its teaching. Applicants need to conceptualize their didactic teaching vision, also with regard to the special profile of the University of Duisburg-Essen.

The hiring requirements for this position comply with Article 36 of the law on higher education in North-Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz NRW).

The University of Duisburg-Essen aims to increase the diversity of its members and considers their competences in relation to, e.g., their age or origin (<http://www.uni-due.de/diversity>). The university's endeavours to support women among its academic staff have been honoured with the "Total E-Quality Award". It aims to increase the number of women among its members and therefore encourages women with pertinent qualifications to apply. Women with equal qualifications will be preferred in accordance with state equality laws. Applications of qualified disabled persons in the legal sense of § 2 para. 3 SGB IX are also welcome.

Copies of publications and letters of recommendation are not requested as part of the initial application.

Applications, together with supporting documents (curriculum vitae, list of academic publications, evidence of your academic and professional background, certified copies of your academic degrees, details of your previous teaching activities and of your participation in academic administration and third-party funded projects) are to be submitted no later than 18-11-2019 to the Dean of the Mercator School of Management:

University of Duisburg-Essen
Dean of the Mercator School of Management
Prof. Dr. Peter Anker
Forsthausweg 2
47057 Duisburg
Germany.

Further information about the university and this position can be found at the following internet address:

<http://www.uni-due.de/in-east/>